Take-Home Assignment: Exploring 'Numbers 13'

Dear Students,

Today, we learned about Numbers 13, where Moses sent 12 spies to explore the land of Canaan. Now it's time for you to think about what we've learned and share it with your family!

Instructions:

1. Story Summary:

- With an adult's help, write a short summary of what happens in Numbers 13. Remember to include why Moses sent the spies and what they discovered.

2. Discussion Questions:

- Ask these questions to your family and write down their answers.

1. Why do you think Moses chose 12 people to explore the land?
2. What qualities do you think the spies needed to have for their mission?
3. How do you think the spies felt when they saw the land of Canaan?

3. Activity – Family Spy Report:

- Each person in your family will pretend to be a spy exploring a new place (this could be your living room, backyard, or a nearby park).
- Observe and note down any interesting things you discover. Include what you see, hear, or feel.
- Share your 'spy report' with each other. Discuss how your exploration compares to what the spies in Numbers 13 found.

4. Craft Time:

- Create a simple 'Spy Map'. Use crayons or colored pencils to draw a map of the area you explored in the activity above. Mark any noteworthy discoveries on your map.
- Label the different parts of your map just like the spies reported on the land.

5. Reflection:

- Write a few sentences about what you learned from the story of the spies. How does the way they reacted teach us about facing challenges or new situations?

Remember:

This assignment is meant to be fun and help you think more about the story you learned. Be creative and have fun with your family while doing these activities!
