Take-Home Assignment: Reflecting on Numbers 23

Dear Students,

Today we'll explore Numbers 23 in the Bible, a chapter where Balaam, a prophet, encounters God's message about the Israelites. After reading or listening to the chapter, here are a few activities and questions to reflect upon together with your family. Spend about 15 minutes to complete these at home.

Activity 1: Draw and Discuss

1. Draw Balaam's Journey: Imagine Balaam's journey and draw a picture of what you think it looked like. Include anything you find interesting, such as the mountains he visited or the people he met. Share your drawing with your family and explain what you liked most about this story.

Activity 2: Family Discussion

1. God's Message: Discuss with your family what God wanted Balaam to understand about the Israelites. Why was it important for Balaam to listen to God?
2. Blessings and Warnings: Talk about the blessings and warnings given in the chapter. How do they show us the importance of listening to God?

Activity 3: Thoughtful Questions

1. Why Would God Speak to Balaam? Why do you think God chose Balaam to hear His message, even though Balaam wasn't one of the Israelites?
2. Imagine an Outcome: What do you think might have happened if Balaam didn't listen to God's instructions?

Activity 4: Family Prayer Time

1. Pray Together: As a family, think of people around you who may need blessings and pray together for them. Ask God to help you listen to His instructions and bless others with your actions.

Wrap-Up:

Write a short note about what you learned from the story of Balaam in Numbers 23 and why it's important to listen to God. Share this note with a family member and ask them what they learned too!

We hope you have fun exploring and reflecting on this chapter with your family!

Remember to bring your drawings and written thoughts back to class; we will share our experiences together.

Happy Exploring!
