Take-Home Assignment: Deuteronomy 31

Objective: Understand the key themes of leadership, trust, and courage found in Deuteronomy 31.

---

Read & Reflect:

1. Read Together: Sit with your family and read Deuteronomy 31 in your children's Bible or a family-friendly translation.

2. Discuss: Talk about who the main characters are in this chapter. (Hint: Moses and Joshua).

---

Activities:

1. Leadership Role Play:

- Pretend you are Moses, passing leadership to Joshua. What advice would you give him? Take turns with a family member to play Moses and Joshua.

2. Trust Building Activity:

- Pair up with a family member. One person closes their eyes, while the other leads them safely around a room. Trust is important, like how the Israelites trusted God and Joshua. Switch roles after a few minutes.

3. Courage Collage:

- Find magazines or newspapers, and cut out images that show people being brave or acting as leaders. Paste them onto a piece of paper to create a courage collage. Share your collage with your family and explain why you chose each image.

---

Questions to Consider:

1. Why do you think Moses chose Joshua to be the next leader?

2. How do you think Joshua felt about becoming the new leader?

3. Why is it important to be strong and courageous?

---

Family Reflection:

- Grateful Thought:

- Each family member shares something they are thankful for today. How might gratitude encourage you to be courageous like Joshua?

- Encouragement Circle:

- Before bedtime, sit in a circle and share encouraging words with each family member. This activity helps build a supportive and loving environment, just like Moses encouraged Joshua.

---

Take some time to discuss or write down your thoughts on how you can show courage and leadership in your own life, just like Joshua did.
