Take-Home Assignment: Reflecting on 1 Samuel 15

Dear Students,

Today, we learned about a very important chapter from the Bible: 1 Samuel 15. In this chapter, we learned about King Saul, the prophet Samuel, and the important lesson about obedience to God. Let's take some time to reflect and explore this story with our family at home.

Part 1: Understanding the Story

Read the story of 1 Samuel 15 together with your family. If you don’t have a Bible, you can find this chapter online or a family member can help you summarize it.

Key Points to Remember:
- God gave King Saul a special task to complete.
- Saul did not fully obey God’s instructions.
- Samuel delivered God’s message to Saul about the importance of listening to God.

Part 2: Family Discussion

Talk about these questions with your family:
1. What did Saul do that was disobedient to God’s instructions?
2. How did God feel about Saul not following instructions?
3. Why do you think listening and obeying God is important?

Part 3: Creative Exercise

1. Draw a Scene: Draw a picture of your favorite moment from the story. Explain why you picked that moment.

2. Act It Out: With your family, act out a short scene from the story. You can be Saul, Samuel, or even someone giving instructions! This helps us remember the importance of following directions.

Part 4: Personal Reflection

Write a short paragraph about a time when you had to listen carefully. How did it feel to follow instructions? What did you learn? Share this with your family.

Part 5: Prayer Time

End your activity by saying a prayer with your family. You may want to thank God for guidance and ask for help in being a good listener.

We hope you enjoy this time with your family exploring today's lesson. Remember, listening and obeying are important not just in this story, but in our everyday lives too!
