2 Samuel 3: Reflection and Activities for Elementary Students

Theme: Understanding Friendship and Forgiveness

Overview:

2 Samuel 3 is a chapter from the Bible that tells of the events during King David's reign over Israel. It contains themes of friendship, forgiveness, and peace between leaders. David grows stronger as King, while Saul's followers slowly join David's side. This chapter also highlights the friendship and interactions between David and Abner.

Reflection:

Talk about the importance of friendship and forgiveness in our lives. How do they help make relationships better?

Activities:

1. Family Discussion:
- With your family, discuss a time when a friend helped you feel better or when you had to forgive someone. How did it make you feel? Why are these qualities important in a friendship?

2. Drawing Activity:
- Create a picture that illustrates what friendship means to you. You can draw pictures of you and your friends playing together or examples of how you can show forgiveness to others.

3. Role-playing Exercise:
- With a family member, role-play a scenario where one person apologizes after making a mistake, and the other person forgives them. Discuss how apologies and forgiveness can strengthen friendships.

4. Gratitude Journal:
- Write down five things you are grateful for about your friends and family members. Share these with your family and talk about how you can show appreciation to them.

5. Build a Peace Plan:
- Think about how you can bring peace if a disagreement happens, just like David worked towards peace with those who opposed him. Write down steps you would take to solve a disagreement peacefully.

Questions for Reflection:

- Who were the key people mentioned in 2 Samuel 3, and what did they do?
- How did David show his commitment to peace and friendship?
- Why is it important to forgive others?
- How can you be a good friend to someone who is upset or needs help?

Conclusion:

The story in 2 Samuel 3 teaches us about the power of friendship and forgiveness. Remember that like David, we can work towards building stronger, peaceful relationships by being kind, supportive, and forgiving to those around us.
